Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

For over a decade we have been witnessing an increase in the importance of business tourism. Gdynia has all the assets to take advantage of this fact and to build its potential in the meeting industry.

We have a varied base of conference venues, several of which can host over 1000 guests at a single location. Our accommodation base consists of several high-class hotels with conference facilities. Our leisure time offer is also one of the most interesting in the country - the best musical theatre, two dramatic stages, an interactive science centre, a film centre, a unique Emigration Museum in the heart of the harbour - are only a few of the city's attractions. A special brand of Gdynia are the big sports events, including ENEA Ironmen 70.3, Onico Halfmarathon and Gdynia Grand Prix race. Due to great atmosphere and the abundance of attractions, participation in such an event is often a form of integration for companies from Gdynia and the whole country. We should also mention excellent restaurants and their terraces where one may enjoy their meal while looking at the sea.

I cordially invite you to get familiar with the full offer of Gdynia in the MICE sector (Meetings, Incentives, Conferences and Events) and to organize a variety of events in this hospitable city.

The Gdynia City Museum is an exceptional institution, located near the city beach and documenting the life of one of the youngest Polish cities that has been developing at a rate that has baffled historians, urbanists and its inhabitants alike. From 1983 the Museum's mission is to gather, store, plan and share collections related to Gdynia. The permanent exhibition entitled "Gdynia - dzieło otwarte" ("Gdynia - an open work") focuses on stories provided by inhabitants, modernist legacy, and contemporary ideas. Special exhibitions expositions dedicated to design, modern projects and history of architecture have become a good tradition of the Gdynia City Museum. Extensive educational offer, perfect location and visitor-friendly space all encourage you to visit this extraordinary place!

The Emigration Museum in Gdynia, established on the initiative of the city authorities, is the first museum in Poland dedicated to the history of Polish emigration. The institution is located at 1 Polska Street, right on the seafront, in the historical building of the Marine Station built in 1933, from where Polish transatlantic ships set sail for decades. The aim of the museum is to present and study the stories of departures and lives of Poles living abroad in close connection with the present, as the history of emigration is in fact being written every day. Its various dimensions are shown as a permanent exhibition. Since the renovation of the Marine Station in 2014, the building has again become the city's visiting card and a tourist attraction for thousands of passengers of large cruise liners from all over the world, that moor at this very spot, the French Quay, every year.

The Emigration Museum has three conference rooms and event spaces, such as the large main hall or the foyer with an exhibition corridor. The spaces can be adjusted to fit the nature of the event, depending on the scenario. There is also a restaurant and a bistro café at the museum, both providing excellent catering services.

Those of our compatriots who emigrated missed their homes and their homeland. The things that they yearned for most were tastes and smells of home cooking, particularly during holidays, dominated by fish dishes, which – depending on the region – had different aromas and were served differently. Being able to pursue our culinary passion in a place dedicated to emigration, we decided to celebrate this element of our history by cooking in such a way that anyone, when away from home, could close their eyes and feel transported magically to the place that is closest to their heart just by smelling the aroma of a dish or taking the first bite.

Mondo di Vinegre is a WORLD full of emotions... It is the magic of flavours which, like a charm, enables us to go where our heart is. The Mondo di Vinegre restaurant will be happy to organize highest-class banquets, corporate events, family and business celebrations, weddings, christenings, communions, catering services, culinary workshops. We strive to meet our guests' needs – this is why events may be intimate ones, or cater for even up to 2,500 people (using the space of the Emigration Museum, which offers many arrangement opportunities). 93 TROLLEYBUSES
5 000 000 VEHICLE KM A YEAR
16 ROUTES, INCLUDING 2 SEASONAL LINES, 2 EXTRA ACCESS LINES

The first trolleybus line in Gdynia started its operation on the 18th of September 1943. Since then, trolleybuses have become permanently rooted in Gdynia's landscape and grown to become the city landmark.

The trolleybus is a proven technology with a long tradition. Today, cities focus on implementing measures that lead to low-emission transport and efficient use of energy resources. The trolleybus fits in perfectly with this strategy. It has always been a zero-emission form of transport, and the latest vehicles are also silent and stand out due to their smooth, continuous acceleration and braking. They are equipped with the latest technologies, including traction batteries which enable them to be driven outside the traction network, automatically controlled current collectors, or air conditioning. Moreover, electric power is supplied to the trolleybus grid from 10 traction substations. This process is managed remotely. Grid emergency services watch over its smooth operation and security 24/7. Finally, it is also worth mentioning that the company's fleet currently consists of 89 low-floor trolleybuses and 4 historic retro trolleys.

Plans for the future:

- purchase of 30 new trolleybuses, including 16 articulated ones
- construction of a photovoltaic panel power plant on the roofs of the depot; 5% of all necessary energy for powering the traction network will be obtained from solar energy
- replacement of nickel-cadmium batteries with lithium-ion batteries in 21 trolleybuses (batteries with a larger range)
- creating an automatic, maintenance-free control system for steering switches installed on the traction network.

vision for the future

a city which invests

Gdynia – a smart city in many dimensions

OPEN CITY WITH A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

Gdynia has always had ambitions to develop in a dynamic and thoughtful way. The development of Gdynia, its relations with business and consistent implementation of the adopted strategy have been recognized in prestigious rankings.

The key to success is the city's economic potential and the idea how to use it. Gdynia has many advantages of a modern city, which inhabitants have for many years consistently confirmed that they are satisfied with their place of residence, the satisfaction level being the highest in Poland (87% satisfied residents in "Social Diagnosis" by Prof. J. Czapiński). Many factors determine this, but one of them is certainly a high standard of municipal services: public transport, waste management and education. Management in this sector is considerably facilitated by solutions in the field of "a smart city". And in this very field, Gdynia has paved the way for other cities in Poland. In June 2017, the city received the ISO 37120 certificate. Thus it has found itself in the global database www.dataforcities.org, where each city can compare its indexes with other members of this elite group of Smart Cities such as London, Amsterdam or Dubai. Gdynia ranks really well in this list, and in some areas even excellent, which confirms the fact that that sustainable development of the city is not only a good-sounding slogan, but everyday reality.

Gdynia is also a winner in the prestigious Eco-City competition organized by the Embassy of the French Republic for Polish cities. In 2017, it won in as many as three out of twelve categories: "Sustainable mobility", "Waste management" and "Energy efficiency of buildings". As one of the few cities, it has a special department for energy, which coordinates activities to save electricity, heat and gas, and also deals with environmental subsidies.

Gdynia has already been awarded twice in the prestigious ranking of the fDi Intelligence magazine (Financial Times Group), being ranked first in the overall category of mid-sized cities and receiving the title of "Polish city of the future". Gdynia has also been recognised as the leader in such categories as "Economic potential" and "Business friendliness". The city was ranked fourth in the category of "Human capital and lifestyle" and "Infrastructure and connectivity". The award ceremony was held during the world's largest property market event – MIPIM in Cannes.

A development of the Gdynia waterfront is an extremely prestigious project. By the very edge of the sea there is a hotel-office-residential complex with the Courtyard by Marriott Gdynia Waterfront and the highest residential building in Trójmiasto, the twelfth highest in Poland – Sea Towers. The whole investment is completed with a multifunctional office building – headquarters of PKO Bank Polski. Soon, the second stage of the project – Waterfront II – will be launched. Residential buildings, office blocks, numerous commercial premises, hotel, conference area, spa and public utilities including a cinema will be built within the scope of the planned development. Passages with a generally available square and landscape architecture which emphasizes individual functional zones of the future development, with an estimated area of 75,000 m<sup>2</sup>, constitute an important part of the conception. The newly-designed development is in harmony with the modernist architecture of Gdynia. A public, but simultaneously, intimate character of the urban interiors that will be built here is human-oriented, which favours creation of good atmosphere and “life among buildings”. The whole project covers areas between Waszyngtona Street and Kościuszki Square and will complement this most representative part of the city with a new public space of exceptional potential.

A city on a micro-scale, i.e. over 2,000 buildings on a huge model of Gdynia, a view from the 22 metre tower over the only street entering the sea in Poland, or a walk across the future Gdynia which is still a few years away - are only part of the offer by Gdynia InfoBox which was first opened in June 2013.

The main hall of Gdynia InfoBox is occupied by a huge 3D city plan measuring almost 8x4 metres. It is impressive not only due to its size, but also thanks to the incredible level of detail. It includes both the existing buildings, as well as those which are still being designed. It is supplemented by touchscreens which will take visitors on an interactive journey into the future.

Visitors to CultureBox will also have the option of learning about the cultural offer of the city and book tickets for the biggest events. Additionally, numerous exhibitions, presentations, and meetings take place here.

An undeniable attraction is the 20 metre-tall observation tower, accessible either by stairs or an elevator, offering a panoramic view. It enables visitors to see the progress in certain investments as well as the only street axis that enters the sea.

Gdynia InfoBox is located next to the Żeromskiego Square. A well designed green area, new street furniture, and intriguing illumination after dark, have all created an enchanting space.

Gdynia Modernism Trail

Gdynia city centre, inscribed on the list of the Polish Monuments of History, was formed in the 1930s. In the newly emerging city, there were built buildings unique on a European scale, the shapes of which brought to mind naval architecture. Round windows were designed, referring to ship portholes, oval or sharp lumps of buildings, resembling hulls of ships, additional storeys, which prototype was a captain's bridge, or external stairs like a ship's gangways. Large glazed surfaces typical of Gdynia tenement buildings, villas and guesthouses made them light and bright. They were also applied in public facilities and port warehouses. The phenomenon of Gdynia's modernism, which today's builders of modern tenement houses are trying to allude to, will be fully understood by those who cover the trail marked out between historic buildings.

The legacy of Gdynia's modernist architecture can boldly stand in line with such symbols of modernist cities as Tel Aviv or Le Havre. Like them, Gdynia was established in less than 15 years and from the beginning, the most outstanding Polish architects of the interwar period were active here. They left buildings, which delight with moderation, proportions and modernist detail up to this day. It is also worth discovering the interiors of the tenement houses in Gdynia, which despite the war have still retained original staircases.

The exhibition hall creates a kind of diorama - the floor has been paved with cobblestone from the 1930s, stylish street lamps emphasize the character of the interior, original facades of the pre-war tenement houses of Gdynia, Sopot and Gdansk have been integrated into the walls. The perspective of the staged "street" at which 26 motorcycles and 14 cars are parked, being the main point of the exhibition, is closed by the shop window covered with awning.
